Portfolio <https://edbertla.github.io/website-portfolio/>

I am a second-year student at Tokyo International University with solid experience in creative media production and involvement in several organizations, where I've learned to work well in a team. I have a background in videography, photography, and video editing, which I have focused on for the past four years. I am now learning skills in technology and programming, even though I don't yet have professional experience in this field. I am excited to keep learning and to grow my abilities through an internship, where I can contribute my skills and enthusiasm.
